This new eight-bed observation unit adjacent to the existing Emergency Department features state-of-the-art monitoring equipment that allows staff to keep an uninterrupted eye on each patient. The design’s intent was to create a soothing, quiet environment, away from the hectic emergency room, that reduces both the patient’s and family’s stress, and is a cost-effective means of caring for those who may be seriously ill.